Abstract of the Disclosure

Α vibrator mechanism is constructed with 5 permanently magnetized rotor having an eccentrically positioned center of mass and a flat profile. magnetized rotor is magnetically coupled to electrically commutated stator having multiple windings. The vibrator mechanism is assembled for compact mounting 10 within the housing of a communication device.